

A Ministry to International Children

The outreach to the international community is:

- A ministry of Gospel-centered friendship
- A ministry to fulfill a need: English practice, isolation loneliness, cultural awareness, etc

One of the greatest avenues for creating relationships with the internationals in our communities is through a ministry to the children. Offering classes for English practice and Bible study has proven to be an excellent avenue for becoming active within the international community and is giving Christians the privilege of sharing the message of God's love.

Many spouses/grandparents live in university housing and spend their days caring for children. The children's classes offer an opportunity for a "place to go" for both the caregiver and the child. A "Moms (dads, grandparents, babysitter) and Tots" class actively involves both the parent and child in the same class. Another model for older children and parents is to offer separate classes for the children and parents at the same time. The parents' study coincides with the children's Bible lesson.

Beginning

Beginning a children's class is an avenue into the international community, helping develop Gospel-centered friendships and fulfilling a need.

Step 1: Identify a family with a child(ren) and develop a personal relationship with them.

Step 2: Ask permission to begin a class in English. Explain that the teacher will do typical American songs, finger plays, games, etc. and share a Bible story and art project at each 45–60 minute meeting.

Step 3: Set a time and place for the first class. Encourage the friend to invite others with young children to attend. It is okay to begin with one child and one parent! If the class is done well, others will certainly be invited to share in this wonderful American experience.

Step 4: Prepare for the first class !

Typical Class Schedule

The amount of time spent in each area depends upon the level of the children. Younger children need more activity/movement time. The older children spend more time in Bible study and arts/crafts projects.

10–15 minutes	Activities (free choice) and interaction time (coordinated with Bible story theme)
5–10 minutes	Welcome (Action/Movement Songs and finger plays)
5–15 minutes	Bible story time
5–10 minutes	Art/craft activity (coordinated with Bible story theme)
5 minutes	Goodbye (Song, prayer, etc.)

The host parent makes the decision to offer a simple snack or not. Eating does provide for excellent fellowship, but the food can be messy. The parents of the younger children also arrange for the meeting place. The older children offer their apartments with parental permission.
